

About a utility line career...

- The job outlook is favorable. Utilities across the country are searching for qualified apprentice line workers to fill entry level positions as journeymen reach retirement age.
- Wages and benefits at Nebraska's public power districts are competitive or above average compared to other local employers. Investopedia listed utility line jobs in the top 10 highest paying blue collar jobs in the US in 2009.
- Contact the utility line schools early. Class sizes may be limited.

Dawson PPD 2012 Utility Line Scholarship

Dawson Public Power District hopes to foster skilled, safety-conscious, highly motivated people who would like the opportunity to work for the district or another public power provider in the state.

Dawson PPD will award up to a $1,000 scholarship to an individual who plans to attend an accredited school. Applicants must have been accepted to an accredited utility line school in order to receive the scholarship.

The recipient must currently live within Dawson PPD's service territory. This includes Dawson and Buffalo counties and a portion of Lincoln, Frontier, Sherman, Custer and Gosper counties. Residents of North Platte, Gothenburg, Cozad, Lexington, Elm Creek, Kearney, Gibbon, Ravenna and Shelton are also eligible.

For those attending a two-year Associates Degree program, half of the scholarship ($500) will be paid directly to the recipient following the successful completion of the first year of utility line study. The second half ($500) of the scholarship will be awarded following graduation. Those who choose to attend a certificate or one-year program are eligible to receive $500. The recipient must contact Dawson PPD to receive the scholarship monies.

The scholarship winner is not guaranteed an internship or employment opportunity at Dawson Public Power District. Positions may or may not be available.

Before you decide

Making career decisions can be difficult. Dawson PPD offers a shadow program so you can see what a utility line job entails. Call Jeremy Kaiser to set up an appointment.
